Before we go any further...

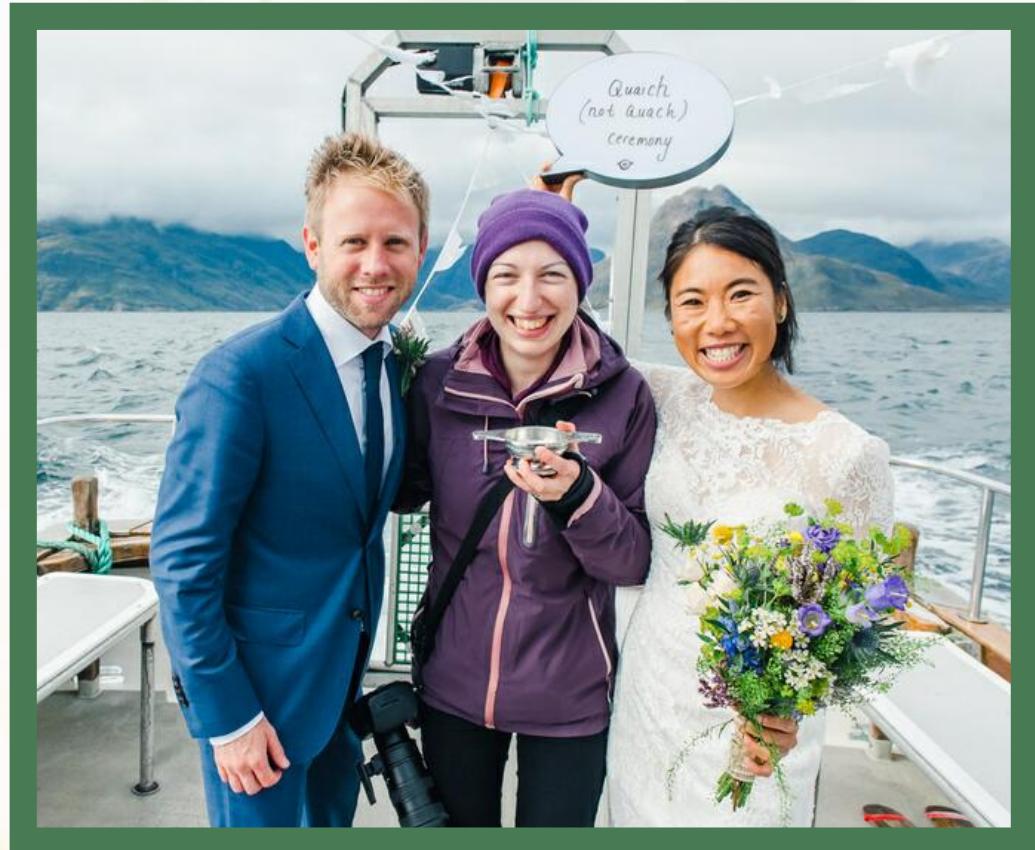

Let's talk about photography prices in a moment but, first, please consider this!

Whoever you choose as your wedding or elopement photographer, remember that they're going to be around you all day on this massively important occasion, capturing memories for you and your family to cherish for generations to come.

You're not booking a one-hour boiler service!

This is an investment in photographs which will be with you for a lifetime.

Sure, price is an important consideration, but you're also looking for value, experience, beautiful images and a first-class service.

I'm Karen, and I create beautiful, natural wedding photographs for down-to-earth couples, build meaningful relationships, and enable people to relax in front of my camera.

Now let's talk about prices...

Bespoke, Elopement & Micro-Wedding Packages...

Every wedding and elopement is different and you might not need to book a full day of photography coverage. Or maybe you want a photographer for two days!

I'd be delighted to offer you a bespoke photography package, crafted specifically for you, to take into account exactly how many hours of photography you need and in which beautiful Scottish location.

Some restrictions might apply, depending on your plans...

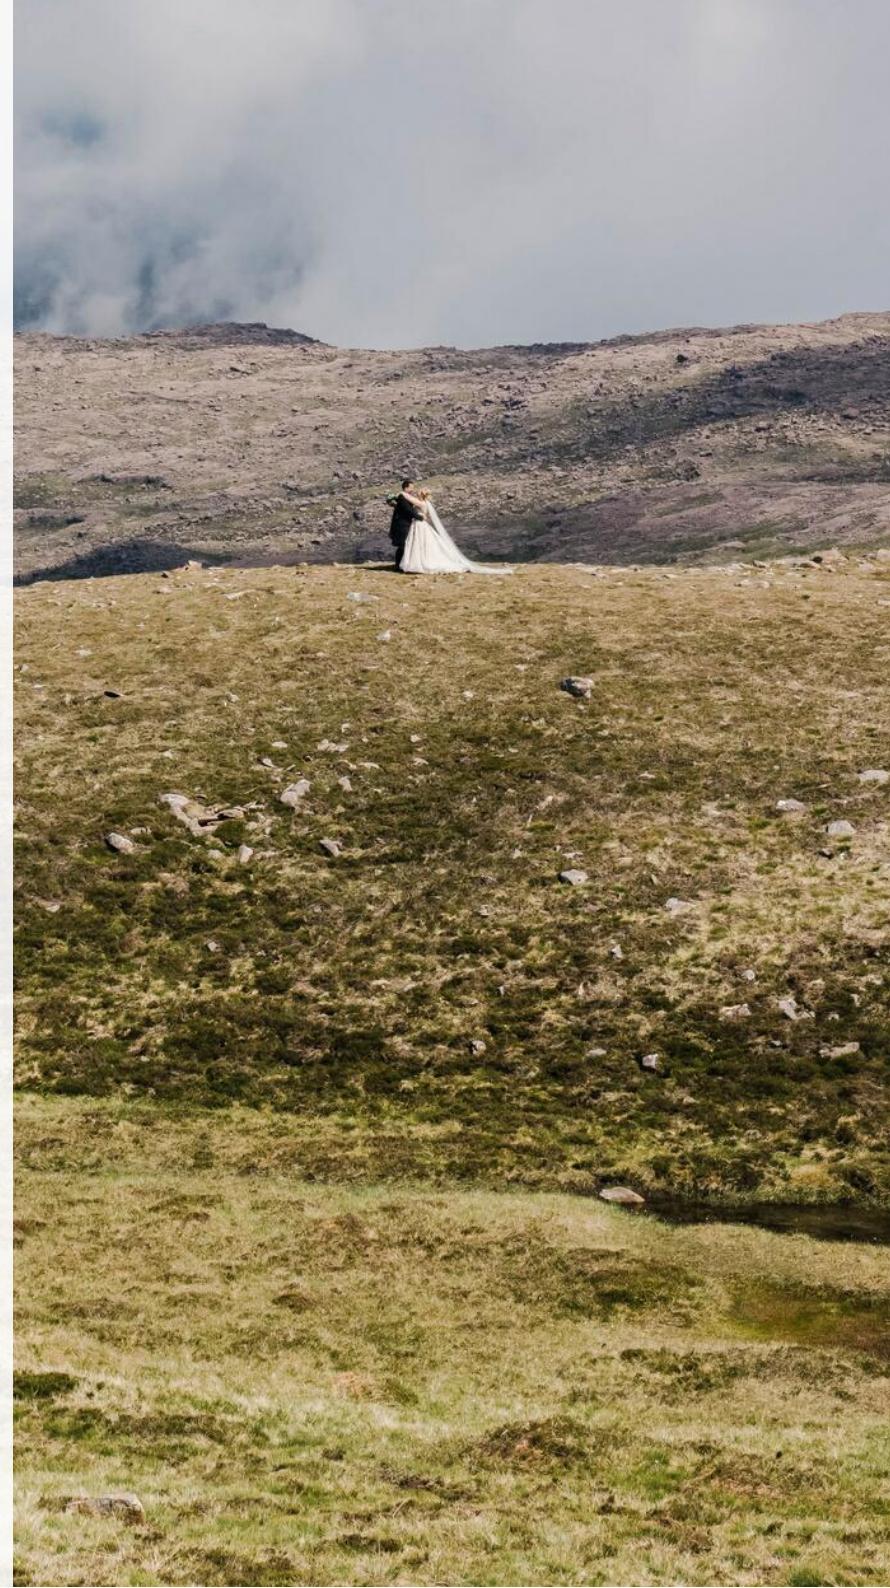

If your wedding or elopement is planned for a weekday, at any time of the year, then I can offer you as little or as much time as you need.

If you're looking to book a Saturday in the peak spring and summer months, then I'll steer you towards one of my main photography packages, outlined below.

I might be able to offer you a bespoke package on a Saturday if you're booking less than six months in advance and/or your wedding or elopement is planned for autumn or winter.

The best approach is for us to discuss your plans and, together, we can create a bespoke photography package perfect for you.

"We were lucky enough to be able to find a photographer as lovely and professional as Karen for our recent wedding at Pitcalzean House.

From our first conversation, Karen put us at ease as we ran through what we would like from the photographs and the day as a whole.

She was unobtrusive during the ceremony and post-ceremony drinks, and nothing was too much trouble for her. Half of the time we didn't even know where she was as she blended in seamlessly with the guests and we have some truly wonderful candid photos of the day as a result.

Having gone through our gallery of photos for the second time today, I'm minded that Karen has captured the mood of the day, as well as the wedding itself, so perfectly and we have a plethora of photos of memories that we will treasure forever.

Karen, we genuinely can't thank you enough."

"Could not recommend more!! We're absolutely delighted that we booked Karen for our wedding. We were looking for a photographer to capture natural and true moments throughout the day and we loved Karen's authentic and bright style. And we liked Karen too!

We booked a call with her and immediately struck up a genuine connection. Karen kept in touch after the booking and provided us with some helpful top tips, and she was always quick to reply to emails and happy to answer questions and offer advice when needed.

We live in Cambridge so didn't actually meet Karen in person until our wedding day but that didn't matter at all! We had the best day and felt totally comfortable around Karen. Our timings changed a little on the day, but Karen went with the flow and captured some really special pictures of us at dusk. Our photos were ready within a month and we absolutely love them!! Karen, thank you so much!"
